

My name is sahan munasingha. I am from Gampaha. Currently I am a 3rd year 2nd semester software engineering student. My school is senerath paranavithana national college. When it comes to the my school time I am a senior prefect of school prefect board. And also I have done so many sport events in my school life and also active member of school societies. When it comes to the my university life I joined FCSC since 2024 as sub committee member. Actually that is the point my whole university life goes turning. After 2025 I become as a committee member of FCSC. I am a active member FCSC since 2024. And also I maintain and manage my academic and this FCSC things perfectly. As the result of that I maintain good GPA during each and every semester of my university life. I work with both FCSC and SIS members and also I have a good connection with each and every year batch reps and students.

My first chair event of FCSC is blood dooation campaign 2025. That was very incredible moment in my life. I have done that event very well with the maximum donors count in history. In that event I handle and manage all aspects like finance, ground works and so on.

Re-create

My name is Sahan Munasingha, and I am from Gampaha. I am currently a third-year, second-semester Software Engineering undergraduate. I studied at Senarath Paranavithana National College, where I served as a Senior Prefect on the school prefect board. During my school years, I actively participated in numerous sports events and was also an active member of several school societies.

In my university life, I joined the Faculty of Computing Student Community (FCSC) in 2024 as a sub-committee member, which became a major turning point in my academic journey. In 2025, I was appointed as a committee member of FCSC, and I have remained an active contributor since then. I successfully balance my academic responsibilities with my involvement in FCSC activities, maintaining a strong GPA throughout every semester.

I work closely with both FCSC and SIS members and have built strong connections with batch representatives and students from all academic years.

My first event as a Chair of FCSC was the Blood Donation Campaign in 2025, which became a very memorable milestone in my life. The event was highly successful, recording the highest number of donors in the campaign's history. I handled and managed all aspects of the event, including finances, ground operations, and overall coordination.

What do you understand about the responsibilities of a Treasurer?

From my understanding, the Treasurer is responsible for managing the financial operations of the student community. This includes preparing budgets for events, tracking income and expenses, maintaining proper records, and ensuring transparency in fund usage.

The Treasurer must make sure that all financial activities are well-documented and accountable. Every event should have a pre-approved budget and a final financial report after completion.

In addition, the Treasurer should support event organizers by helping them plan cost-effective budgets and ensuring that funds are used efficiently.

Since I have already prepared budgets and financial reports for several FCSC events, I understand the importance of accuracy, transparency, and timely reporting.

how you manage if the event actual budget goes exceed the expected budget. how you handle it

If the actual budget exceeds the expected budget, first I would immediately review the expense breakdown to identify where the variance occurred.

Before the event, I would always include a contingency buffer (around 5–10%) in the budget to handle unexpected costs. If the excess is within that buffer, it can be managed without major impact.

If the overspending is significant, I would immediately communicate with the President and organizing committee to discuss possible solutions — such as reducing non-essential expenses, seeking additional sponsorship, or reallocating funds with proper approval.

Transparency is very important, so I would document the reason for the budget variance and include it in the final financial report to maintain accountability.

Tell us about your past experience in handling financial responsibilities

I started handling financial responsibilities during my time as a Sub-Committee Member of FCSC. At that stage, I was actively involved in reaching out for sponsorships and managing stalls for events. This gave me practical exposure to income generation, sponsor communication, and budget planning.

Later, as the Chairperson of the Blood Donation Campaign 2025 organized by FCSC, I was responsible for overseeing all aspects of the event, including the financial side. I prepared the budget, monitored expenses, coordinated with sponsors, and ensured that all payments were tracked properly.

I made sure every expense was planned in advance and documented clearly. Because of proper planning and monitoring, the campaign was executed smoothly without any financial interruptions.

These experiences helped me understand the importance of transparency, accountability, and real-time expense tracking in event management.

How do you find funds for your events?

We mainly generate funds through multiple income sources to ensure financial stability. Around two-thirds of our funds are usually generated through merchandise sales, which is one of our most reliable income streams.

The remaining funds are collected through event stalls and external sponsorships. For sponsorships, we actively approach companies and partners with proposals that clearly outline the benefits of collaboration.

By diversifying our funding sources — merchandise, stalls, and sponsorships — we reduce financial risk and ensure that events can be executed smoothly without over-dependence on a single source.

- In addition to FCSC events, I was also responsible for handling the financial side of the Hanthana Batch Trip. I managed participant fee collection, monitored expenses, and ensured that all payments were properly recorded. The trip was executed smoothly without financial issues, and all accounts were balanced at the end.

From these experiences, I learned that financial management is not just about handling money, but about planning, communication, and responsible decision-making.

Good morning respected panel members,

My name is Sahan Munasingha, and I am from Gampaha. I am currently a third-year, second-semester Software Engineering undergraduate.

I studied at Senarath Paranavithana National College, when it comes to my school life I am a Senior Prefect of the school prefect board. During my school years, I actively participated in sports and school societies, which helped me develop discipline, leadership, and teamwork from an early stage.

My university journey truly changed when I joined the Faculty of Computing Student Community in 2024 as a Sub-Committee Member. That was a turning point in my university life. Through FCSC, I developed leadership skills, responsibility, and a deeper connection with the faculty community.

In 2025, I became a Committee Member of FCSC, and I have remained an active contributor since 2024. I have consistently maintained a strong GPA while actively engaging in FCSC responsibilities, which demonstrates my ability to balance academics and leadership effectively.

One of the most significant milestones in my journey was serving as the Chairperson of the Blood Donation Campaign 2025. It was a highly successful event that recorded the highest number of donors in the campaign's history. I was responsible for managing all aspects of the event, including financial planning, sponsor coordination, ground operations, and overall execution. The event ran smoothly without any financial interruptions due to proper planning and monitoring.

Regarding financial responsibilities, I started handling the financial side during my time as a Sub-Committee Member. I was involved in reaching out for sponsorships and managing stalls, which gave me practical experience in income generation and fund management.

Through these experiences, I have learned that financial management is not just about handling money — it is about planning carefully, communicating clearly, maintaining transparency, and making responsible decisions.

Introduction — Sahan Munasingha | FCSC Treasurer Candidate

My name is Sahan Munasingha, and I am from Gampaha. I am currently a third-year, second-semester Software Engineering undergraduate.

I studied at Senarath Paranavithana National College, where I served as a Senior Prefect. During my school years, I took part in many sports events and was an active member of several school societies.

At university, I joined the Faculty of Computing Student Community — FCSC — in 2024 as a sub-committee member. That was a big turning point for me. In 2025, I became a committee member and have stayed actively involved ever since. I manage my academic work and FCSC responsibilities well, and I have maintained a strong GPA throughout every semester.

I work closely with FCSC and SIS members and have built good relationships with batch representatives and students from all academic years.

My FCSC Journey:

- Volunteer — Convocation duties
- Sub-committee member — Viramaya 2024, Vesak Decoration 2024, SLIIT Get Together 2024 (SIS), Blood Donation Campaign 2024, Study Support Session 2024

- Committee member — Viramaya 2025, Piritha 2025, Study Support Session 2025 (Main Coordinator), Blood Donation Campaign 2025 (Chairperson)

My most memorable milestone so far was chairing the Blood Donation Campaign 2025. It was a great success — we recorded the highest number of donors in the campaign's history. I personally handled the finances, ground operations, and overall coordination of the event.

That hands-on experience with event finances and coordination is exactly what makes me confident and ready to take on the Treasurer role for FCSC.